What is Continuation Betting?

- ▶ Continuation betting is betting on the flop after being the last aggressor preflop
- ▶ You can often continuation bet (c-bet) bet regardless of your actual hand
- ▶ See Strategy Episode 11: Basic Continuation Betting for more info

How to Size Your Continuation Bet?

- ▶ You should generally size your bet between 40% and 70% of the pot
- ▶ Two-thirds pot (66%) is a good default bet sizing
- ▶ See Fearless River Strategy Episode 11: Basic Continuation Betting for more info

When to Continuation Bet?

- ▶ Against 1 opponent, you can c-bet nearly always
- ▶ A single opponent misses the flop the majority of the time, so they will often fold to a c-bet

When to Continuation Bet?

- ▶ Against 2 opponents, c-bet regularly as a bluff
- ▶ Do not bluff into 2 opponents on a coordinated flop
 - Opponents hit coordinated flops more often than dry flops
 - You can still c-bet as a bluff when in position & checked to

For more info on Coordinated Flops, please see our Strategy Episode on Board Texture, which covers this subject in depth

When to Continuation Bet?

- ▶ Do not c-bet as a bluff against 3 or more opponents
- ▶ As more opponents see the flop, the less likely it becomes that all opponents will fold
